TGRS Luncheon Tour - History and Future

The TGRS luncheon tour provides a great environment where club members can get together in an informal setting. If you are a bit adventurous in your dining preferences, you owe it to yourself to join the tour and visit with fellow club members. One of the goals is to visit as many different cuisines and locations as possible. So far, we have had 6 luncheons at 6 different restaurants...

BZ's Bistro
Laverna's Coffee Shop
Rudy's Real Texas Bar-B-Q
Café Santa Rosa
Red Garter Bar and Grill
Mountain View Bar and Grill

The next luncheon will be Chinese cuisine on Wednesday, January 14th. The announcement/invitation email will be sent out soon.

If you have a suggestion for a luncheon, please email WebMaster@Tucsongrs.org and let me know. I will do all the groundwork to verify the restaurant and organize the event. Or, if you would like to revisit any of the restaurants that we have already been, to please let me know.

Craig Anderson

For the past month, I've been scratch building/kit bashing an example of Southern Pacific's "tank" style locomotive tenders introduced when they started using fuel oil.

In researching the subject, I learned the following:

- The tank car style allowed for more water and fuel to be carried by the tender, hence more efficiency for crossing desert regions.
- The tank style came in many variations. Large units with two, six wheel trucks for large locomotives and smaller versions used at mines, in rail yards and other short haul situations. A few were built specifically for their Coastal and Sunset Limited Passenger trains.
- Southern Pacific built this style tender in their shops or contracted for these units to be constructed. They varied in style. There was no preferred prototype.
- I modeled my smaller unit from photos and images. It will service my 2-6-0 Mogul.

I built my unit using as its foundation a "Gramps" tank car purchased from Ron K., assorted "G" scale detail parts, bass wood and a thin plastic sheet. I made all the hand rails from brass rod/tubing.

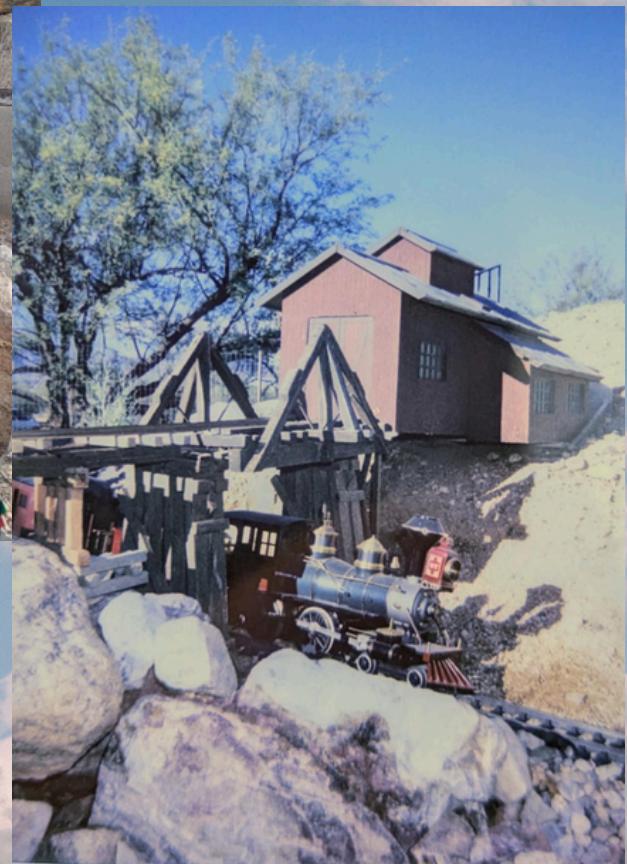

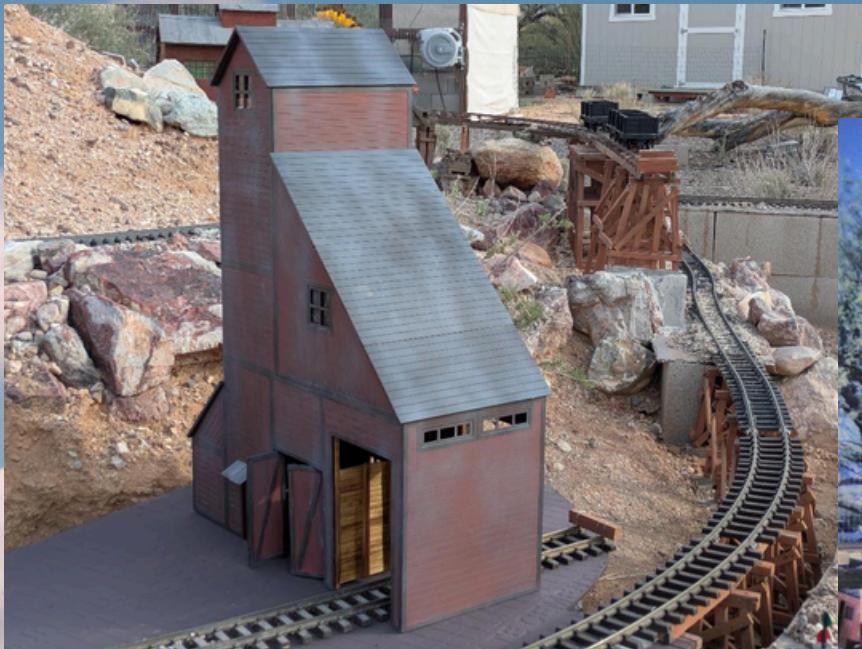

I share with many of you the joy of building models.

I invested about 20 hours and $65 building the tender. It will be unveiled soon during the Oracle Kid's RR Holiday schedule and be displayed during the Rails In The Garden event.

What's on your Workbench Continued

My first project to report for December is the Mitchell Mine #2 building now installed on the layout. The folks at SATM gave me this kit as pieces, saying "We don't think everything is there, but you can kitbash this." I had to look up a 2016 website to get pictures on how it is supposed to go together. As built, it makes a nice, large structure for the mining complex in Santa Rita.

Charlie

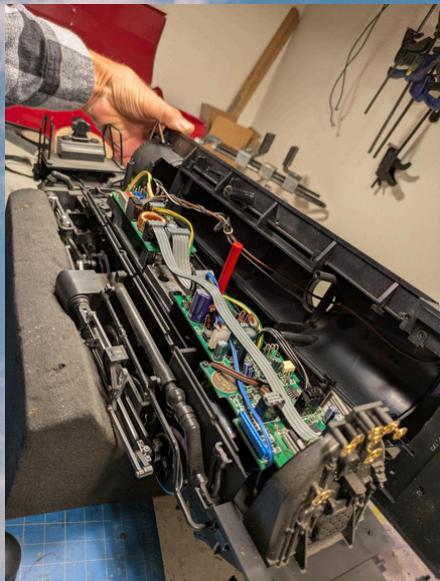

My daughter came over for Christmas and used her Polaroid to take this picture of the Number 1 mine building. This camera is a real "develops before your eyes" throwback to the 70's. The washed out colors and perspective make it an interesting photo.

Whats on your Workbench p3

The club has asked me to convert the county fair locomotives to Blunami and battery operation. I'm notoriously bad at documenting my work, but this picture is the original electronics that will all be replaced by a single 1 x 2 inch card so that we can control it from an app on our phone. I didn't take a picture at the end.<sigh>

This luggage wagon was shown earlier, and the luggage you see came from Jim Miller.

General Meeting Minutes

December 12, 2025

Tucson Wagon and History Museum

26 club members signed the attendance sheet

Called to order at 1 PM with thanks to the museum for hosting.

November minutes were approved by the meeting after a discussion of the conflict in February social lunch and board meeting. The board will adjust its meeting at its January meeting.

Vice President report: Claudia Nelson

- Discussed the range of displays for holiday season (table below)

Newsletter report: Jim Miller

- Always looking for articles.

Old business:

- 2026 RITG – Ann Winter has stepped up as chair-person and is “still digging in” to the tasks for promoting our open houses.
- Social lunches at various locations – Jerry notes that most of the people at this meeting have attended one or another of the lunches. January is going to be Chinese.

New business:

- There’s a request for a clinic about installing Blunami. Charlie notes that the time involved is “a bit longer than we have at a meeting.” Those interested should contact Charlie and arrange a few sessions working on their projects.
- Note that board elections are coming up in the spring. We need a president and vice president volunteers.

Next Meetings
